Global Health Research:
Addressing Ethical Issues in Practice

Presented by: Dr. Matthew Hunt, Dr. Marianna Orlova, Dr. Theresa Gyorkos, Dr. Erwinn Schurr

Monday, January 21st, 2013
Goodman Cancer Centre - 1160 Pine Ave. West - Karp Conference Room 501 10:00 - 12:00

Are you considering conducting research in a global health context? What type of ethical challenges will you face and how can you address them? Attending this interactive workshop will help you learn about research ethics as it pertains to human subjects in a global health research context... from researchers who have conducted global health research in the field over many years.

Dr. Matthew Hunt will give an introductory lecture about the ethical issues related to global health research. Next, participants will take part in a small group discussion about a case study presented by Dr. Marianna Orlova, followed by further discussion with all participants. Finally, Dr. Theresa Gyorkos and Dr. Erwin Schurr, who are experts in the field, will lead a panel discussion about the case.

Dr. Matthew Hunt: Assistant Professor, School of Physical and Occupational Therapy, McGill University and Researcher, Centre for Interdisciplinary Research on Rehabilitation
Dr. Marianna Orlova: Research Associate, The Research Institute of the McGill University Health Centre
Dr. Theresa Gyorkos: Professor, Division of Clinical Epidemiology, McGill University Health Centre and Department of Epidemiology, Biostatistics and Occupational Health, McGill University.
Dr. Erwin Schurr: James McGill Professor, Departments of Medicine and Human Genetics, McGill University and McGill Centre for the Study of Host Resistance, MUHC.

This workshop is eligible for 3 CME credits. If you are a practicing physician and are eligible for these credits, please check the corresponding box on the online registration form.

To register for the above workshop, please do so using our online registration form on our website:

http://muhc.ca/form/qaeprgistration-form-2013

Questions? Contact Susan Tardif, Administrative Technician at: gaep@muhc.mcgill.ca