

GPS – Graduate & Postdoctoral
Studies

GRADUATE FUNDING

Graduate Mobility Awards 2020-21

- Opportunity for research collaboration
- New: Virtual collaboration projects
- Deadline to submit applications to GPS: July 15th, 2021

The 2020-21 Graduate Mobility Award applications are now open under special conditions in an effort to increase opportunities for research collaboration for students under the current circumstances.

New this year

Two types of projects are eligible this year:

1. Virtual Collaboration Projects: Projects such as remote research or online workshops in collaboration with international or out-of-province partner institutions are eligible for funding. Conferences are not eligible. Since there is no travel involved, students can be awarded up to $2,000 depending on the scope of their proposal.
2. Regular Graduate Mobility Award: Students who need to travel for research as soon as travel is allowed may apply for the regular Graduate Mobility Award. If approved, payment will not be made until travel is permitted, plans confirmed, and a quarantine plan is in place. Students already abroad may also apply for the regular Graduate Mobility Award to do a research project in their current country of residence if travel is not involved.

The current policies for university-related travel can be found here.

Eligibility

- Must be enrolled in a graduate degree program at McGill and be registered as full-time thesis student
- Must have completed one full-time term at the time of application
- Must be in good academic standing
- Must have held an advisory/supervisory committee meeting within 10 months prior to start date of activity
- The activity must start during the Academic Year 2020-21

How to Apply

Submit a completed and fully signed application form and supporting documents to GPS online.

Deadline

Applications are accepted on a rolling basis but should be received by GPS no later than July 15th, 2021.

Please visit our website for more information on eligibility and the application process.

Please contact us for more information: graduatefunding.gps@mcgill.ca