Doctoral Internship Program 2019-20

- Call for applications
- Internship opportunity for doctoral students at the end of their degree
- Applications accepted on a rolling basis

The Doctoral Internship Program offers McGill's doctoral students at the end of their degree the opportunity to learn and grow outside of academia through a 3-month remunerated internship. Several interns from our 2018-2019 cohort have shared their experiences and impressions of the program. Please click here to view their testimonials.

Eligibility

To be eligible for the Doctoral Internship Program, the student must meet the following requirements:

- Be enrolled in a doctoral program at McGill
- Be registered as a full-time student at the time of application and remain registered during the internship
- Be in PhD 6 or earlier (as appears on their Minerva transcript)
- Have submitted their initial thesis before the internship start date
- Not have defended their thesis before commencing the internship
- If applicable, must hold appropriate work permit for internship site

International students: Please contact GPS before applying for an internship.

Value and Duration

Students will receive up to $2,000/month during their internship, for a period of 1 to 3 months. Students who receive remuneration from the host organization will see their funding from GPS prorated accordingly.

How to Apply

Students are responsible for securing their internship. However, the GPS website offers resources to help identify potential host organizations.
